Overview

Purpose of this document

The purpose of this document is to provide guidance, context, and instruction on Configuring and using the Notification functionality in Comply.

The platform is configurable to allow the users receive notifications by email. These notifications are a key part of the process for each user role and identify when a task assigned to you requires action.

E.g. When configured, the data provider will receive a notification by email, when data for a specific return is due.

It is important that you have configured these notifications first, so that when tasks assigned to you become due, you will be made aware and can action them on time.

What does the user receive?

The user will only receive notifications if:

- The action is "Due Now". This means action is required within the next 3 days.
- The action is required and is "Overdue". This means, the action is late (based on the preconfigured deadlines) and puts the return at risk of missing the statutory submission deadline.

Only the person assigned the relevant role, will receive these notifications. I.e. Only the Preparer will receive notification for returns which have been moved to a status of "To Prepare" and action is due within 3 days.

E.g. When configured, the data provider will receive a notification by email, when data for a specific return is due.

Notes:

- Notifications are linked to the scheduler, so will be triggered by the date assigned for each task.
- It is important that you have configured these notifications first, so that when tasks assigned to you become due, you will be made aware and can action them on time.
- Notifications are sent overnight.
- Regardless of the frequency a user has chosen, notifications are only sent once.
- If you select Daily notifications, you will only receive one if you have assigned tasks due.

1.1. Configure User Notifications

Notifications are a key part of the process for each user role. These identify when a task assigned to you requires action. It is important that you have configured the notifications, so that when tasks assigned to you become due, you will be made aware and can action them on time.

Please note: If you do not complete this step, you will not receive notifications when tasks assigned to you are due. You will need to review the Returns menu more frequently.

The following Steps are required to successfully complete this process:

1. Login to Comply.
2. Click Security on the Menu.
3. Click User Details on the sub-menu.

The screenshot shows the 'User Details' page for Keith O'Sullivan in the Comply system. The left sidebar has a red box around the 'Security' menu item, which is expanded to show 'User Details', 'User Management', and 'User Roles'. The main content area is divided into four sections: Personal Details, Report Role, Settings, and SFTP Details.

1.2. Viewing Email Notifications

Example 1: Once a return is due, the Data Provider will receive a notification identifying that the data file is due to be uploaded and will display a status of Data Due.

Example 2:

Once a data provider uploads the data file, the preparer receives a notification to say they have a return assigned to them, which has a task due. The status will say To Prepare.

Email Notification

The user will receive a notification email to their inbox.

2. Email Alerts

Unlike standard notifications outlined in section 1 above, Email Alerts are not linked to the scheduler but are instead triggered by specific actions due or by specific actions which have been taken.

Note:

These alerts are sent in addition to the standard notifications sent which are linked to the scheduler.

- Standard Notifications linked to the scheduler are only sent if notifications have been configured (as in page 6 above).
- Email Alerts are sent by default, regardless of whether notifications have been configured.

The following E-mail is sent to the Data Provider at 7am local time on the working day before the data is due. This alerts the Data Provider that the data is due on the next working day and that they should login and upload the relevant data file.

E.g. The Data is due on Monday 30th Sept, then the Data Provider will receive the email at 7am on Friday 27th Sept.

3. Delegating Roles

Comply can be configured to delegate an assigned users tasks to another user, i.e. in the event of a planned absence, the delegated user will receive the notifications.

Example:

Juan is assigned as the Data Provider for ABC Company. He has a 2 week vacation Planned, during which time he knows some of his assigned returns will have files due to be uploaded. Juan delegates his role to Carole for those 2 weeks. Carole will now receive the email notifications once the files are due, and will have access to the returns. After the 2 weeks, responsibility automatically returns to Juan.

To do this:

1. Go to the Security menu.
2. Click User Details.

The screenshot displays the 'User Details' page for 'Georgi Test Georgiev' in the Taxback International Comply interface. The left sidebar shows the 'Security' menu with 'User Details' highlighted. The main content area is divided into three sections: Personal Details, Report Role, and Settings.

A single row is present in the table with the following values: Albert, 2022-05-01, 2022-05-31, and a trash icon in the 'By whom' column. 4. Escalation Triggers Comply can also be configured to notify a specific user when certain tasks (assigned to others) are overdue. E.g. If the Data Provider has not uploaded the file on time, a notification can be triggered to escalate it to a designated person who can investigate the issue.

Please note: This functionality only works when the specific role of Escalation Manager has been assigned (this is configured by an admin user).
