2.2. Data Validation Rules

2.2.1. Retriggering of Data Validation

When preparing a return and the user Modifies or Manually Adds new transactions and clicks the Save button, this automatically triggers the Data Validations to run again for the edited/new transactions.

The same applies if the user is in the Excluded Transactions/Sent for Correction Tab and clicks Include in Return.

2.2.2. Logic Update for D1.02 and D2.02

The logic for these has been updated so that both rules only trigger under certain circumstances.

Example 1:

The rule checks If the user uploads a Purchase Transaction in a return which is duplicated in returns for the previous three months with the same:

- Invoice number
- Transaction type
- Tax code
- Vat deductible amount

but is associated with another return with the same return type, for the same entity and jurisdiction.

Example 2:

The rule checks If the user uploads a Sales Transaction in a return which is duplicated in returns for the previous three months with the same:

- Invoice number
- Transaction type
- Tax code
- Vat deductible amount

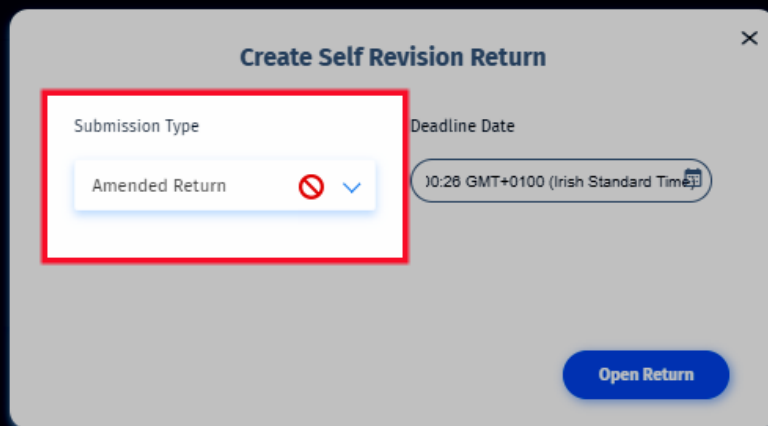

but is associated with another return with the same return type, for the same entity and jurisdiction.

						Fixed	Acc
G1.05	Valid Client Transaction Type Value	5	5	0	0	0
G1.07	Valid Client Transaction Category Value	5	5	0	0	0
D1.02	Duplicated IN Invoice Nr With Transaction In Return For Another Period	5	5	0	0	0
D1.03	Duplicated Input Invoice Nr Same Vat Rate Or Same Vat Amount Return	5	5	0	0	0
D1.04	Duplicated Input Invoice Nr Different Vat Rate Different Vat Amount Same Return	5	5	0	0	0
D2.03	Duplicated Output Invoice Nr Same Vat Rate Or Same Vat Amount Return	5	5	0	0	0
D2.04	Duplicated Output Invoice Nr Different Vat Rate Different Vat Amount Same Return	5	5	0	0	0

Please note: Rule D2.02 is now deactivated by default. But the new logic stated above will apply if this is reactivated.

The "Deadline Date" field is a text input showing "10:26 GMT+0100 (Irish Standard Time)" with a calendar icon to its right. At the bottom right of the modal is a blue button labeled "Open Return".
